Hikes, hikes, hikes! Walking along Cinque Terre in Italy was definitely a highlight of their trip - seeing 3 beautiful off the track, coastal cities on one path is amazing.

The students were very surprised to see so many other American tourists while on vacation! That means they chose the best spots... right?!

Students were fortunate to travel to Norway, the UK, Ireland, Spain and Italy during their three week vacation over holiday break. Lucky ducks!

Three full weeks in Europe?! My dreams came through, all thanks to my school, my teachers and my parents. Thank you!

BACKPACK MUST HAVES

"My book bag has an insane amount of stuff inside. From books, art supplies, snacks, more snacks, (did I mention snacks?) headphones and gym clothes, there's never enough space for everything."

ADAM HUERTA
Freshman

We surveyed 65 students and most preferred book bags that hang around both shoulders versus across the chest!

SAY WHAT?!
According to our fabulous nurse, Mrs. Robertsen, our book bags should not exceed more than 20% of our body weight before it starts to affect our backs. Time to start using that locker, kids!

DASHBOARD - area of Pictavo that gives an overview of the progress of a project

DIVIDER - pages between sections of a yearbook; typically a spread with strong photography, typography or design elements

LADDER - Pictavo's built-in organizing tool where you can track users, tasks, assignments and content

LAYOUT - the arrangement of photos, copy and accents on a page

LINE HEIGHT - the tool used to adjust the space between lines of text; also known as leading

EXPANDING YOUR OPTIONS

You'll notice on the second page of each Art Collection, we've provided a 'style guide' to help in your design process. By using the same guidelines our design team used, you'll be able to create layouts that coordinate seamlessly with what we've already created.

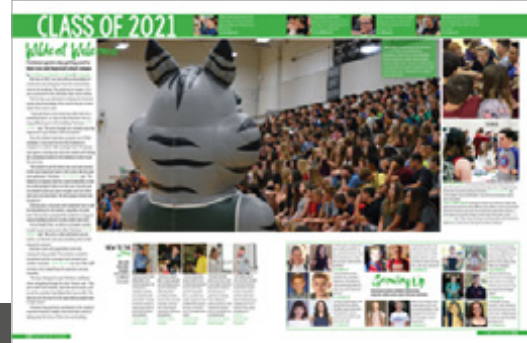

DEVELOPING A THEME: VISUAL & VERBAL

Think of a theme as your book's personality. A well-planned theme should include complementary visual and verbal cues throughout your book.

SPREADS DESIGNED BY THE ROYAL ROAR YEARBOOK STAFF OF HOPKINS NORTH JUNIOR HIGH, HOPKINS, MN

SPREADS DESIGNED BY THE PROWLER YEARBOOK STAFF OF MILLARD WEST HIGH SCHOOL, OMAHA, NE

VISUAL

A visual theme is typically what people think of when they hear the word theme. Visual theme is the consistent use of specific colors, graphics and fonts in your book. Every page should not look identical, but there should be visual cues that the theme is still present.

ABOVE: USING AN ART COLLECTION CUSTOMIZED WITH SCHOOL COLORS CREATES A STRONG VISUAL THEME THAT ALSO COMMUNICATES SCHOOL SPIRIT

VERBAL

A verbal theme consists of carrying a theme through your book via repetitive use of specific words or phrases and style of writing. Verbal theme development along with strategic typography are a good way to blend verbal and visual themes together.

ABOVE: ALONG WITH A STRONG VISUAL THEME, THIS SCHOOL UTILIZED ALLITERATION TO WEAVE A VERBAL THEME THROUGHOUT THEIR BOOK

PHOTOGRAPHY

A yearbook relies on photographs to grab readers' attention with visuals that tell an accurate story of the year at your school.

BIRD'S EYE AND WORM'S EYE ANGLES ARE POPULAR WAYS AWARD-WINNING YEARBOOK STAFFS CAPTURE INTERESTING PHOTOS THAT MAKE THE READER PAUSE TO ENJOY.

- 1 Quality is king. Keep a DSLR handy and know how to use it. Capturing a well-lit, high-resolution image allows more flexibility while editing later!
- 2 What's your angle? Shooting from up high or down low can add an interesting perspective to your shots.
- 3 Keep it real. Let things happen naturally and be ready for the shot. Photojournalism is about telling the story that's happening in front of you.
- 4 Where are you? Know your surroundings and how to shoot well for the environment you're in.
- 5 Watch for the action! Nothing makes a visual statement like a great action shot.

LAYOUT

Knowing and understanding Pictavo's design environment will help you create well-designed pages that follow design rules and ensure a high quality book.

BLEED

The perimeter of the page masked out in yellow is the page bleed area. Photos and art that need to print to the page edge should extend to the outer edge of the bleed area.

TRIM

The red line around each page indicates where your page will be trimmed in production.

SAFETY MARGIN

The green lines around each page are the boundaries that should contain text and images that are not meant to bleed.

GUTTER

The gutter is the gap between two pages on a spread. To place images or art seamlessly across the gutter, link your pages.

- 1 Added sparingly, Accents help finish a layout and carry the visual theme.
- 2 Snippets are used here to efficiently complete the layout, creating additional stories on the page.
- 3 This portrait flow has been customized to add interest while maintaining the design style.
- 4 Adding candid in and around the portrait flow adds fun and allows for more coverage opportunities.

WRITING

Yearbooks that are engaging to read have many elements working together to tell a story. Headlines are used to draw readers in and Subheads can be used to tie events or stories contained on a spread together.

PHOTOGRAPHS OFTEN TELL PART OF THE STORY, BUT THE WRITTEN WORD IS JUST AS IMPORTANT. IN THIS SPREAD, THE STAFF WROTE A FEATURE STORY, INTERVIEWED STUDENTS, CAPTIONED EACH PHOTO AND STILL HAD ROOM TO WRITE A SECONDARY FEATURE ABOUT ANOTHER STUDENT'S MISSION TRIP EXPERIENCE. NOTICE THE CAPTIONS ARE LOADED WITH QUOTES, CREATING A HUMAN CONNECTION BETWEEN SUBJECT AND READER.

Tough THE UNTOUCHED
Senior girls travel out of the country for a week and a half on a mission trip.

As school came to an end, students engaged all the possibilities that summer 2017 could bring. While many students spent their summer days swimming at the pool or working long hours to earn money, some students spent their time helping others in need. The senior girls' trip to Ecuador and the "Tough" staff.

Reaction and having friends in Ecuador was a major trip for them. They shared laughs. The two girls stayed with the chance to interact on their adventures at all times.

"I had always wanted to go on a mission trip," Brennan said. "It was just when when you realize that there were more opportunities for this year trip in Ecuador, so I knew it was meant to be."

The main objective for the trip was to teach about world issues about Ecuador. However, the two girls learned of the amazing opportunity. This was the first time they would meet up at the country, and it would be the first time that they would meet their parents.

"It was pretty amazing for the trip," Young said. "The girls were really well together and we were friends for a long time so I knew I would be for the rest of it and go on the adventure together."

Before their lives it, it was like to live in a culture with heart. It's hard to think, for the village of Ecuador, Ecuadorians will give feedback on their back, the two girls traveled off their own trip. "When we go to Ecuador, we had to take the ride. We have never seen a car before," Young said. "It was nice because they have no street lights. There is a lot of light, so it's really nice to see."

The reaction was in their face throughout the trip. The two girls had seen a different part of the world and shared their own with the girls.

"We were in the jungle, so everything was green and it was beautiful," Brennan said. "There were the mountains and huge water reservoirs. It was a nice experience to see again."

The week flew by, and before they knew it, it was time to go home.

"Being there for a long time had been everything I had ever dreamed of. I had heard so much about the trip, but I didn't really know what it was like. It was really amazing to go to the country, and it was really nice to see the girls."

They ended up the last mission of the mission trip and then prepared on their plane back home. The mission was always in their hearts and on their minds for the rest of their lives. Being on the trip, the two girls were looking for their experience with their own eyes and mind as well as a mission of a lifetime.

STORYTELLING

Everyone knows when writing a good story, it's important to answer as many of the 5Ws and an H (what, where, who, when, why and how) as possible. Keep in mind that students like reading about people rather than a list of facts about an event. It is the job of the copywriter to create human interest features that are also high in detail and fact content. As you write, think about what you want the reader to learn or feel after reading your story. By telling a story rather than merely 'reporting', a writer builds a connection between the reader and the subject being written about.

Taking the time to interview a few students involved in the event is a great way to tie more emotion and humanity into a feature, as well as take advantage of telling a story from a different point of view.

TYPOGRAPHY

Typography is the art of using type as a design element. Choosing fonts and arranging copy makes a yearbook more visually appealing than simple text—especially in headlines.
